QUAIL ELECTRONICS, INC. HAS RELEASED A NEW POWER CORD FOR KOREA. THE SUPPLY END HAS A KOREAN PLUG KSC8305 AND IS APPROVED BY KETI (KOREAN ELECTRONICS TECHNOLOGY INSTITUTE). QUAIL ELECTRONICS IS CURRENTLY STOCKING THIS CORD IN ITS NORTHERN CALIFORNIA WAREHOUSE.

“Often time in the power cord world one country will use an existing plug configuration and safety agency approval from another country or region. At some point, however, they may decide to develop their own safety agency and standards. This is the case with the Korean power cord that we are introducing. The cord itself is still the continental European style plug as it has always been, but now fully approved and marked with the Korean KETI approval as apposed to the VDE approval which was recognized in Korea in the past. You can see the unique KETI marking on both ends of our power cord. We are always quick to apply for these emerging approvals as they develop so that we can offer our customers a seamless transition for their international sales and marketing efforts. You may recall that we have done the same thing in Argentina, China, South Africa, India, and Japan to name a few.” Greg Ruppert - General Manager
